

The aims of the Journal of Economic Geography are to stimulate research and discussion on topics at the intersection of economics and geography, and to provide a forum for debate on all aspects of 'economic geography' broadly defined. The Journal is steered by an editorial team and editorial board drawn equally from economics and geography.

Instructions to Authors

1 The Journal of Economic Geography seeks to redefine and reinvigorate the links between the disciplines of economics and geography. It aims to publish original academic research, critical surveys, and discussion of the highest scholarly standard in the field of 'economic geography' broadly defined. Submitted papers will be evaluated on the basis of their creativity, quality of scholarship, and contribution to advancing understanding of the geographic nature of economic systems and global economic change.

2 Submitted manuscripts must be original, unpublished contributions. They must not be concurrently on offer to any other publication. Authors submitting a manuscript do so on the understanding that if it is accepted for publication copyright of the article will be assigned to Oxford University Press. The Press will supply online access to the article to the author(s) free of charge. The Editors' decision is final.

3 Four hard copies of the manuscript and one electronic copy (sent by email in PDF format) should be submitted to either of the two Editors listed below on the basis of disciplinary affiliation:

Dr Henry G. Overman Centre for Economic Performance London School of Economics Houghton St London WC2A 2AE geog.joeg.editor@lse.ac.uk	Professor Neil Wrigley Department of Geography University of Southampton Southampton SO17 1BJ, UK email: n.wrigley@soton.ac.uk
--	---

Manuscripts should be of no more than 8000 words and should be written in English. They should be prefaced by a short abstract of no more than 150 words, followed by four keywords and four JEL codes suitable for indexing and classification purposes. Manuscripts will not normally be returned to authors.

4 The Journal uses a blind refereeing system. Hence the name and affiliation of the author(s) should appear only on the title page. In the case of multiple authors, the submission should nominate one author as the point of contact for the Editors and provide full details (including email and fax) of an address for correspondence.

5 Revised and accepted manuscripts must be submitted in the house style of the Journal (see a recent issue), on one side only of A4 or US letter-size paper, double spaced (including footnotes and references), with a wide margin, and with the pages numbered. Avoid excessive use of footnotes. Tables and figures should each be numbered consecutively throughout the manuscript, should be attached on separate sheets at the end of the manuscript, and their approximate position indicated in the text. Citations in the text should use the Harvard System of short references, for example, Clark (1999) or (Clark, 1999), followed by a, b, ... when two or more references to work by one author are given for the same year, e.g. (Clark, 1999a, 1999b). Page numbers should be given in the case of quotations, e.g. (Clark, 1999b, 186–192). At the end of the text a full listing of references in alphabetical order should be provided in the following style:

Clark, G.L., Feldman, M., Gertler, M.S. (2000) Oxford Handbook of Economic Geography. Oxford: Oxford University Press.

Martin, R.L. (1999) The new 'geographical turn' in economics: some critical reflections. Cambridge Journal of Economics, 23: 65–91.

The Economist (1999) Knowing your place. The Economist, 13 March, 130.

Venables, A. (1997) Trade liberalization and factor mobility. Discussion Paper. Centre for Economic Performance. London School of Economics.

6 Authors are asked to keep in mind that the Journal is cross-disciplinary and that the mathematical training of its readers is varied. On the one hand, attempting to express a mathematical argument exclusively in words is counterproductive. On the other, through good exposition (eg, using lemmas for intermediate technical results, separating proofs from explanation, putting routine proofs and algebra in technical appendices) it should always be possible to make the central results and the line of argument intelligible.

7 Diagrams should be submitted in their final form, both as good quality hard copy and on disk.

8 Final versions of papers accepted for publishing should be submitted as a typescript (two copies) and electronically in a format suitable for editing. Details of the software used to produce the disk should be given. Authors are expected to correct proofs quickly and to make no revision to proofs. The Press reserves the right to charge authors for revisions made to proofs.

9 The Journal of Economic Geography also reviews selected books in the field of 'economic geography' broadly defined. Potential books for review by the Journal should be sent to the Book Review Editor listed in the most recent issue of the Journal, or to Oxford University Press marked for review by the Journal of Economic Geography.

PERMISSIONS

For information on how to request permissions to reproduce articles/information from this journal, please visit www.oxfordjournals.org/permissions.

ADVERTISING

Inquiries about advertising should be sent to Helen Pearson, Oxford Journals Advertising, PO Box 347, Abingdon OX14 1GJ, UK. Email: helen@oxfordads.com. Tel: +44 (0)1235 201904; Fax: +44 (0)8704 296864.

COPYRIGHT

All rights reserved; no part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise without prior written permission of the Publishers, or a licence permitting restricted copying issued in the UK by the Copyright Licensing Agency Ltd, 90 Tottenham Court Road, London W1P 9HE, or in the USA by the Copyright Clearance Center, 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923.

© Oxford University Press 2008

Typeset by Cepha Imaging Pvt Ltd, Bangalore, India
Printed by Bell and Bain Ltd, Glasgow, UK

